

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for producing hydrogen in an energy efficient manner wherein steam and methane are reacted to produce synthesis gas from which hydrogen is recovered, and heat employed in the process is recovered using a defined regenerative bed system.

TECHNICAL INFORMATION